

SEPC Brings Story, Song to District, Celebrates African-American History Month

By Mark Kane

The Special Emphasis Program Committee sponsored a special lunch-n-learn Feb. 12 that brought both story and song to the District's Clock Tower Building in celebration of African-American History Month.

Tony Sconyers, chief counsel, U.S. Army Field Support Command, performed with the Good News Singers Chorale of the Greater Quad-City Area as part of a program titled "A Spiritual Journey in Story and Song." Sconyers also spoke and read about African-American involvement in music during the Civil War era.

"I love music and this is mostly about song," said Sconyers. "One of my favorite songs is Battle Hymn of the Republic."

Pictured above: Sconyers and the Good News Singers Chorale lead District attendants in song. Bottom left: Doug Davis, Disadvantaged Business Utility Office, and Joe Nobiling, Information Management, lend their talents to the celebration. Bottom right: Sconyers reads about African-American involvement in music during the Civil War era.

